GASOLINE TAX MEASURE NOW IN SENATE

HARD SLEDDING PREDICTED IN UPPER HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY

Fight on Commitment of Bill Won by City Members— Estimated That Tax Will Produce Eight to Ten Million Dollars—Distribution of Funds Collected.

The gasoline tax bill passed its first hurdle and is now in the senate for its consideration. The measure, sponsored by Representative John T. Brown, Champaign county, was passed late Tuesday by the House. The vote was; Yes, 97; no, 29. The bill now will probably meet considerably harder sledding in the upper branch of the legislature than it did in the house.

Indications are that the bill, before it is approved by the senate will be materially amended.

There is considerable sentiment in the upper chamber for reducing the present automobile license tag tax, if a gas tax is to be assessed.

The vote in the house disregarded party lines. Seventy-nine Republicans voted for the bill and 28 against. Eighteen Democrats voted for and one against. One Democrat and three Republicans did not vote.

The rural members voted solidly for the bill and Pickaway county's representative voted for the measure.

The Franklin county delegation's vote was divided. Denny Cross and William Wendt voted for the bill and Paul M. Herbert, Jerry McKinley and Mrs. Viola D. Romans against it.

The first fight came on in the senate Wednesday when it was up for committee reference. The bill was finally sent to the automotive committee after a spirited fight to have it considered by the committee on roads and highways. The vote on this proposition was 22 to 13.

The "organization" wanted to go to the automotive committee. This committee is controlled by the so-called city men.

Some of the rural members thought the bill should be handled by the taxation or highways committees. The division between the country and urban members of these committees is more even.

Rural members say the "city men" have but one view of the question.

AMANDA HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATION

The dedication of the new Amanda High school, postponed recently because of the smallpox, will be held Friday afternoon and evening, Feb. 20th, according to action taken by the Amanda Board of Education at their meeting last Monday night. Efforts will be made to present the same program as previously announced. Among the speakers listed were Vernon M. Riegel, the state director of education, Geo. Morris, of his department and Supt. J. F. Bemiller. Amanda High will be represented by Supt. Mr. Brown and Principal, Mr. Harold Tipton.

REAL ESTATE DEALS.
The Circle Realty company closed the following deals:
I. E. and Fannie E. Greeno their home located on East Mound street to J. E. and Thomas I. Acord.
H. S. and Elizabeth Heffner their property located on South Pickaway street to I. E. and Fannie E. Greeno.
Howard Greeno, pool room and shoe shining stand to P. R. Alexander and Raymond Brungs.

naturally that of the automobile clubs. The measure, as it is now before the senate, provides for a two cent a gallon tax.

The tax will be collected from the gasoline distributors, who will in turn add it to the cost of gasoline, plus the cost of keeping their records and pass it on to the consumer to pay.

It is estimated that the tax would yield from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year.

Fifty per cent of the revenue would go to the highway department, 25 percent to the municipalities on the basis of their respective automobile registration and 25 per cent would be divided equally among the 88 counties.

All the revenue would be used for highway and street maintenance and repair.

THE B. & O. R. R. PENSION LIST

Nineteen employees were added to the pension list of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company during the month of January, bringing the total number on the pension roster of the Company to 1,305. The average number of years of service of the latest pensioners was 35, one having been with the railroad 51 years, another 48 years, two 44 years, two 43 years while the youngest in point of service was 15 years. The Nestor of this group is 82 years of age, while the youngest is 51.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

ATTORNEY GENERAL C. C. CRABBE

Investigating Valuation of Ohio Bell Telephone Company's Property.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—U. P.)—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe today began drawing up a bill for introduction in the legislature to provide for a state investigation of the inventory and valuation of the Ohio Bell Telephone company's property in Ohio.

"We are convinced such an investigation is necessary," said Senator Gardner, floor leader of the Senate, at whose request Crabbe is preparing the bill.

"With the help of the Attorney General the public utilities committee will urge the finance committee to furnish funds for the probe."

Crabbe's bill will provide funds for the public utilities commission to hire experts and attorneys to work on the case exclusively. This will require approximately $125,000.

The inventory in question was made by the telephone company and submitted to the utilities commission as a part of the company's fight to increase its rates generally throughout the state.

All of the individual rate cases have been consolidated into one big case and hearings are to be resumed before the utilities commission next month.

Senator Sweeney, of Akron, has introduced two bills designed to save the state millions of dollars. One would repeal the inheritance taxes, Sweeney claiming that of $3,000,000 in inheritance taxes assessed the state gets only $1,250,000, the balance going for "fees." The Akron Senator's other bill would amend the constitution so that the term of state offices would be four instead of two years, thus saving millions of dollars in election expenses.

DEATH OF MRS. DILLEY.

Mrs. Malera A. Dilley, wife of Garret Dilley, passed away at her home east of Tarlton, February 3, 1925. She was a sufferer for several months past from a complication of diseases. She was the youngest daughter of Samuel and Catherine Hunt and was about 58 years of age.

She is survived by her husband, one sister, Mrs. Martha Ellen Hartranft, of South Vienna, Ohio; five brothers and three step children.

She was a member of the Union church and spent the greater part of her life preparing for the home beyond.

Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hunt Sr. and three stepchildren have preceded her to the spirit world. The deceased was a devoted wife and a loving step-mother. She bore her sufferings patiently until the end and passed away peacefully to meet her God.

The funeral services were conducted from the M. E. church at Tarlton Thursday. Rev. C. L. Thomas of Adelphi, officiated. Interment was in the Tarlton cemetery.

BOOTLEGGER'S EVIDENCE SENSATIONAL.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 11.—(U. P.)—Willie Haar, convicted millionaire bootlegger, continuing his remarkable story of having paid large sums of money for special privileges in Atlanta penitentiary resumed the witness stand today in the federal court trial of A. E. Sartain, deposed warden, L. J. Fletcher, former deputy warden and Lawrence Rich, close friend of Sartain, who acted as go-between.

Haar, the only witness at yesterday's session, told how after paying $10,500 to Rich and Rev. Thomas P. Hayden, deposed prison chaplain, he wired another $5,000 to Rich at Columbus, at the request of Warden Sartain. None of this money was ever returned to him, Haar testified, and claimed it was divided among the defendants.

Mrs. Clark Grooms and children, Elizabeth and Bernice visited relatives in Columbus today.

LONGWORTH NEXT SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Prediction that at least 26 of the 36 Republican representatives-elect from Pennsylvania will support Representative Longworth of Ohio for speaker was made today by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania.

Declaring that the lineup would be "entirely satisfactory to Senator Pepper," also of Pennsylvania, and himself, Mr. Reed said his estimate was based on a canvass of the delegation.

Probability that more than half the Pennsylvania delegation, which will be made up solidly of Republicans and will be the largest Republican delegation in the new house, would support Mr. Longworth, resulted in claims by his adherents today that his election was assured.

Both Mr. Longworth's supporters and those of Representative Madden of Illinois, who is also a candidate for speaker, have asserted that Pennsylvania's vote would settle the contest.

Representative Beggs of Ohio, who is Mr. Longworth's campaign manager, said today he was certain of 128 votes, counting only 17 from Pennsylvania, and was satisfied that his candidate would have a wide margin when Republicans caucus Feb. 27 on the speakership.

MID-WEST PAPER MILL SCORCHED.

The fire department was called to the Mid-West Box and Paper company's plant at 2:40 o'clock this morning. The alarm was sounded from box 51, altho the signals were given by shrieking of the mill's whistle before the fire alarm was sent in.

The fire was located in the boiler room. An ash conveyor had caught fire and sent out a good deal of smoke. Fire finally belched thru the elevator and came out thru the roof, causing some alarm. It took the department two hours to fight the blaze, which was located in a place they could not get to, very handily.

The S. O. S. call of the steam whistle puzzled people who were aroused from their sleep at an unseemly hour, but after the fire alarm was sounded, the trouble was located.

The sprinkling system at the mill failed to do much good and the employees were handicapped with their own fire apparatus, because one of the hydrants was froze up. One of the employees was sent out to turn in an alarm but he went over to Court street before he could find a box, altho there were two boxes much closer to the mill.

The officials place the loss at $200 which is covered by insurance.

LINCOLN, THE IDEAL GENTLEMAN

A Self-Taught Man Has Better Education Than Most.

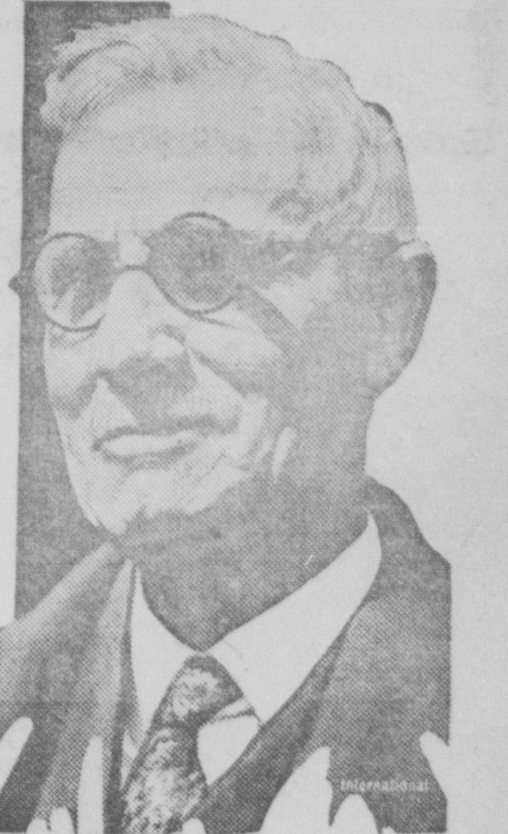

Lincoln was that rare combination, a statesman and a prophet, said Dr. Joseph A. Leighton, professor of philosophy at Ohio State university, in discussing lessons from the life of Lincoln Tuesday before the Rotary club luncheon at the Hotel Deshler. There have been many first rate statesmen without moral consciousness or development, he pointed out; there have been many prophets, without the gifts of understanding men and governments. Lincoln combined all these qualities to an unusual degree.

One of the finest tributes to Lincoln that was ever made, he declared came a few years ago from the London Spectator. The editor of that journal was speaking of the attributes of a gentleman. He averred that they were best represented in Jesus Christ. If anyone thinks that citation unfair because of the Divinity of Christ, then the ideal is best represented, says the a supreme tribute," said Dr. Leighton editor in Abraham Lincoln. "There is the Kentucky railsplitter held up as the ideal of a gentleman by perhaps the most cultured weekly in the English-speaking world."

His Literary Style.
Speaking of Lincoln's early reading and his self-education in literary taste and style, Dr. Leighton said: "It is a fair question, if Lincoln did not have a better moral and literary education than most of our children have. He read his classics himself; they influenced him directly; he formed his own ideas. And that procedure is much better than learning what Smith thinks about Shakespeare and what Brown thinks about Robinson Crusoe."

Dr. Leighton cited the Gettysburg address and the second inaugural as examples of fine literary style and read from them and Rev. Dr. E. F. Chauncey, president of the club read one of Lincoln's letters to Grant, at an example of concise and sententious diction and the famous epistle to a war mother who had given the lives of several sons to the cause of the union.—Columbus Dispatch.

1. Jesus Christ Suffering (vv. 32-34).
1. The Place (v. 32). The garden of Gethsemane—an enclosure containing olive and fig trees, beyond Kidron, about three-fourths of a mile from Jerusalem. The name means olive press. The name is significant of the occasion. Ederheim says, "It is an emblem of trial, distress, and agony." Perhaps the garden was owned by some one of Jesus' friends. It afforded Him a suitable place to retire with His disciples in this trying hour.
2. His Companions (v. 35). He took with Him the eleven disciples that they might share so far as possible, this sorrow with Him. Being a real human being He craved human sympathy. He bade them watch with Him. While He knew that He must "tread the wine-press alone," He had a keen appreciation of sympathy so far as those who loved Him could give it.
3. His Great Sorrow (v. 34). This is the same as the "cup" in verse 36. It was not primarily the prospect of physical suffering that was crushing Him; it was the suffering as a sin bearer—the sensations of His pure soul coming into contact with the awful sin and guilt of the world. In addition to this there was the judgment stroke from the holy God as it fell upon His Son instead of the sinner. God caused the iniquities of the world to strike upon Jesus (II Cor. 5:21; Isa. 53:6).
11. Jesus Christ Praying (vv. 35-42).
Though He prized human sympathy in the hour of supreme need, His only recourse was prayer. The sympathy of our friends is helpful, but in the great crises of life we can only find help as we go to God in prayer.
1. The First Prayer (vv. 35-38).
(1) His posture (v. 35). He fell on his face prostrate on the ground. In the hour of our great need we naturally prostrate ourselves before God—a becoming posture. (2) His petition (v. 36). "Take away this cup from Me." By the cup is meant His death on the cross. No doubt it was most grievous to Him to face its shame, but He pressed on knowing that for this cause He had come into the world (John 12:27, 28, cf. Heb. 2:14). He prayed that the "hour might pass from Him"—the burden was so great that it seemed His life would be crushed out. His prayer was heard (Heb. 5:7). When God hears our prayers He grants the petition desired (I John 5:14, 15). Angels ministered to Him, giving the necessary grace to endure to the end (Luke 22:43). (3) His resignation (v. 36). His will was in subjection to the Father. He knew that His death on the cross was the will of God the Father; for He was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. (4) The disciples rebuked (v. 37). He singled out Peter, since he had been the most conspicuous in proclaiming his loyalty (John 13:38). Though he would go with Him to death he could not watch one hour. (5) Exhortation to the disciples (v. 38). "Watch and pray, lest ye enter into temptation." The only way to be able to stand in the time of trial is to be watching and praying. Jesus knew that although the disciples meant it well they would fall in the trial unless aided from above.
2. The Second Prayer (vv. 39, 40).
He withdrew the second time from His disciples and uttered the same words in prayer. This was not vain repetition. It is proper to repeat our requests. He found the disciples asleep again. Their shame and confusion were more marked than at first.
3. The Third Prayer (vv. 41, 42).
He uttered the same words in His third prayer (Matt. 26:44). He tells the disciples to sleep on and take their rest, as the hour had now come for His betrayal. There is such a thing as being asleep when wanted and awaking when it is too late.

QUALIFICATIONS OF SAFE DRIVER

He Should Know That His Car Is in Good Condition Before Starting.

What are the qualifications of a safe automobile driver?
The National Safety Council answers the question herewith:
In order to be a safe driver, the individual must be of good moral character, possessed of all his senses, understand his responsibility, have consideration for the rights of others and be able to act promptly. He should know that the car is in such condition that no accident will result from defective equipment. He should refuse to operate a car which has defective brakes for his own and others' safety; he should know by actual application of the brakes that they function properly so that, should the occasion arise to use them, he can depend upon them to stop his car.

Examine Before Starting.
He should examine the car before starting to see that it is in good operating condition, that is, such items as the steering, gas and oil supply. He should know that the headlights are properly focused, tires properly inflated and the spare tire ready for service.

He should be sure to use skid chains when it starts to rain or snow or when desirable for safety under other conditions, and should never speed or drive in a reckless manner. He should be careful today—tomorrow may be too late to avoid an accident, for accidents do not happen; they are caused and a well-qualified driver is never in too big a hurry to be careful, for he who takes chances usually takes one too many.

Caution at Corners.
At blind corners where buildings or trees obstruct the view, he should reduce his speed, sound the horn and keep the car under perfect control. He should drive slowly and carefully when approaching children at play. He should never count on them to see him or to be able to take care of themselves for he is responsible for their safety.

He should co-operate with the traffic officers to the fullest extent, for it is their intention to help. All traffic rules of the state, cities and boroughs, through which the car is operated, should be observed.

Accidents do not happen—they are caused.

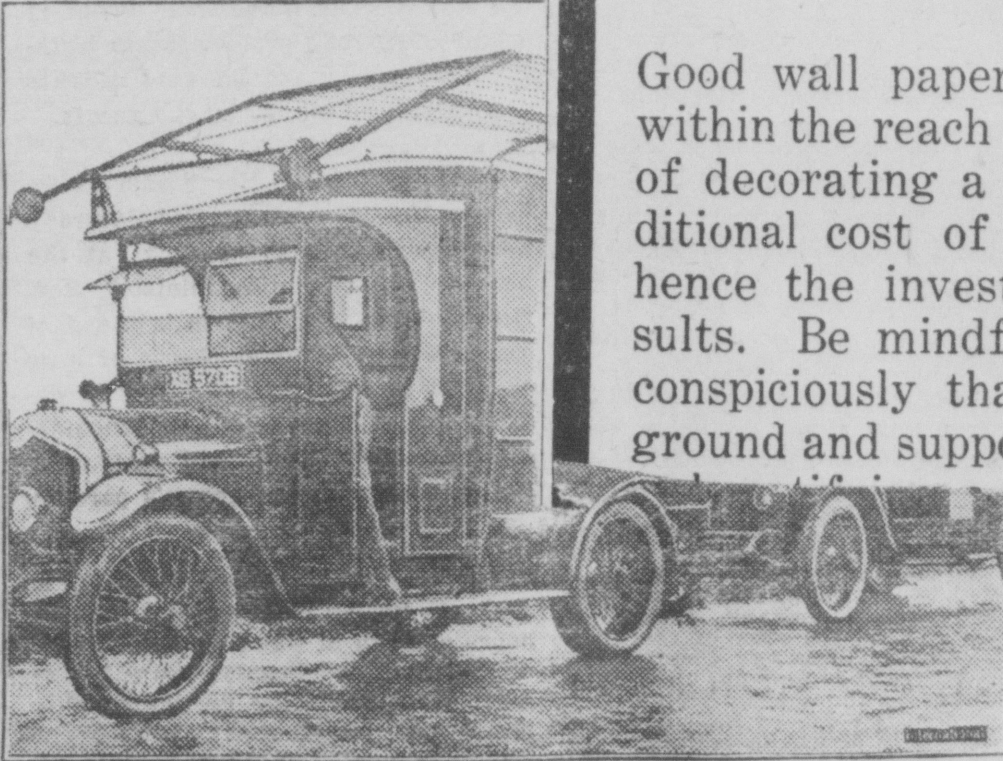

Some Good Suggestions on Cleaning Cylinders

When the cylinder head of a motor is detached for the purpose of removing the carbon deposit, it will be noticed that during the process of scraping the piston, etc., the tapped holes on the top of the cylinder casting soon get full of oily carbon, water, etc., causing trouble to remove when it is decided to insert the holding down set screws, writes R. O. Allen in the American Motorist. To obviate this I have used short screws without heads on, but with a screwdriver slot cut in them, and screw them in flush with the top of the cylinder casting before scraping operations are commenced. After the decarbonizing is completed the grub screws can be removed, when holes will be found to be free from dirt.

Dent in Gasoline Line Will Check Fuel Flow

A dent of some depth in the gasoline line may be sufficient to so restrict the flow as to cause erratic carburetor action, misfiring, etc. Likewise a very abrupt upward bend is likely to cause the formation of an air pocket and restrict the flow. Both of these conditions are likely to give greatest trouble at the higher speeds when the fuel demand is highest. A trap in the fuel line, if allowed to accumulate water or dirt, may in time become so full of foreign substances as to prevent the free flow of gasoline. Periodic cleaning of the whole gas line and the straightening of dented portions will prove valuable in getting good engine operation.

RADIO IS USED TO TRACK

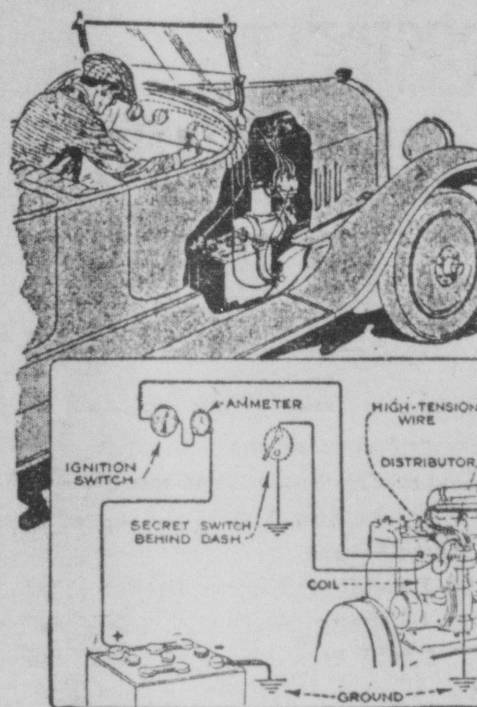

The photograph shows motor cars from Scotland Yard police headquarters equipped with radio to either send or receive messages. The cars were employed in the recent police chase of the motor bandits who held up and robbed the Everholt Street post office, getting away with 16 bags of mail containing money orders, etc. The various sections of the police "flying squad" are thus able to keep in communication with each other.

About Driving Cars

It takes four qualities to be a good driver of an automobile—even the cheapest. You must be able to—Drive safely.
Drive fast—not all the time, but when it is necessary—fast but still safely.
Be easy on your passengers—partly a matter of springs, but much more a matter of skill.
Be easy on your engine and car; any fool can abuse a good machine.
We know, and no doubt you know, many drivers who have two of these qualities, and some who have three. The ones who have all four are rare, indeed. Repair shops, hospitals, and police courts seldom see them.

Secret Switch Prevents Theft of Automobiles

With his snap-on jumper wire an auto thief can readily bridge the ignition wires of a car, when the switch is thrown off, and complete the circuit, which enables him to get away with the car. To prevent this many autoists have a secret ignition switch in addition to the regular one, but the auto thief, after first bridging the regular switch, notices that there is no discharge on the ammeter, which indicates an open circuit, and so he finds the second switch and bridges this one, too. However, the switch and connection shown in the drawing will foil the expert thief, as with this arrangement the correct discharge is shown on the ammeter after the regular switch has been bridged, but the coil is grounded so that the car cannot be operated. This is accomplished by mounting an extra switch behind the dash, of which one side is connected to the frame of the car and the other to the spark coil by carefully concealed wires. Ordinarily, when the car is running, this switch is open, but it is closed to make the ignition system theft-proof.—Richard P. Cole, Paterson, N. J., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Tight Chains Are Always Injurious to the Tire

Like many other useful things, tire chains are entirely proper when used at the right time and in the right manner. When badly adjusted they furnish a route to ruined tires.

Motorists often discover cuts at regular intervals around a tire. When this condition is found it is a pretty safe bet that tight chains were used. It is never wise to fasten chains on tightly. The more loosely a chain is applied the less damage to the tire will result. This is because a loose chain distributes the strain all over the tire, instead of at certain points.

The wise motorists will also avoid the use of chains on paved streets, except in cases of snow or ice.

A tire damaged by chains should go to the repair shop. Too much expert treatment is required to bring its usefulness back for the motorist to attempt the repairs himself.

New "Collecting" Hobby

And here comes a hobbyist who collects bricks. His home is in Dorchester, Mass., and he has an array of 300 bricks which he started to collect in 1872. Churches, schoolhouses, residences and public buildings have yielded their bricks. Many of these are intimately associated with Dorchester's earliest history, and consequently have been photographed and pictured for posterity. This collection of bricks is remarkable, but more remarkable is the fact that upon one of the broad sides of each brick has been painted in old, true in detail and color, a picture of the building from which it was taken.

German Marks Worthless

German paper marks are only good as junk now. The paper mark went out of business a year ago, when the Rentenmark came in use. There was then so much of this kind of currency on hand that in numerous instances banks and other institutions turned the marks over to junk dealers by the ton. Most of these notes, which toward the end of the inflation period were not worth the paper used in their manufacture, have been destroyed or made into pasteboard boxes and the like.

Electric Invalid Carriage

An electric automobile especially designed for invalids is now being made in England. It carries but a single passenger and runs so smoothly that the invalid is not jounced or jarred while riding in it. It is especially designed for those invalids who find the usual types of mechanically propelled vehicles unpleasant by reason of noise or jar.

The Challenge.

"I can make any boast that my husband can make," said the equal rights lady. "All right," said a man in the audience. "Go ahead and do it. I just heard your husband say that he's a man of few words."

You Pay

for a DeLaval whether you buy one or not—

If your separator doesn't skim clean you are feeding your pigs and chickens enough butter-fat—which is always the equivalent of cash money—to pay for a new clean-skimming DeLaval.

We recently heard of a farmer who more than doubled the size of his cream checks by replacing an old separator of another make with a new DeLaval. You may not get such an increase, but you will certainly get some when you put a new DeLaval to work—enough to pay for it in a comparatively short time.

Bring in your old separator

We will accept it as partial payment for brand-new, up-to-date DeLaval—the parator with the wonderful self-centering wheel, that skims cleaner, runs easier and lasts longer. It pays for itself by saving a fat that other separators waste.

MORE DURABLE

LASTS LONGER

The Bak-O-Line Process is a method of spraying the entire pleasure car or truck with a prepared Lacquer enamel producing a velvet or satin finish in any color or combination of colors, far superior in beauty and permanence to the old style color varnish, and the satin finish actually improves with age. The finish is durable and lasting withstanding heat and cold, acids and alkalis, all of which are very destructive to paint and varnish.

It only requires five to eight days to finish a car. Drive in today, ask for a demonstration and have your car re-finished.

Potent Persian Liquor.
Almost every Persian household has the facilities for making "maul-hyat." Being distilled from fermented orange peel it is full of intoxicating, as well as fiery, qualities. It is very quick in action and the traveler to Persia who takes a drink of this strong potion without knowing its "knock-out" nature has a big surprise in store when he wakes up next morning with a headache and without memory of what had taken place the evening before.

Zanesville, O. Feb. 12—J. T. Cramer 42, head of a family of six and out of a job since blacksmithing became a lost art, today offered to sell himself for a year to the highest bidder.

Cramer said he was able-bodied and healthy and would do anything but steal or commit murder.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 12—Maria Nynes thought she was 93 years old but when she found her birth certificate showing her to be 10; the shock caused her to take seriously ill and today she is dead.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN AND DR. HARDING.

Marion, O., Feb. 12—Dr. George T. Harding, father of the late president, recalled today the August morning in 1864 when he met Abraham Lincoln in the White House.

"Mr. President, I am a Buckeye and I want to shake hands with the president," I told him, the aged physician said.

The president smiled, stretched himself at full length and replied:

"Well, tell them back home that you saw the handsomest man in Washington. I am always glad to see a Buckeye."

The next time Dr. Harding entered the White House it was to visit his son President Warren G. Harding.

Don't Work Too Hard.

If you want to be inspired, don't work too hard. That old axiom about genius being an infinite capacity for taking pains is no longer more than half true. There was Berlioz, for instance, who worked for months trying to think up a melody, and then, giving up the task in despair, went diving in the Tiber, with the result that he suddenly came to the surface humming an entrancing tune. When you seem to have run out of rhymes or melodies, stop thinking about them and go out for exercise. All of a sudden, just what you want may come pouring up into your consciousness.

In the Bible.

Wheat is mentioned in more than sixty passages of the Bible, and in other passages it is included in the general term "corn." In England, by the way, if you mention corn you are supposed to mean wheat, that being the leading kind of corn grown in the country, though the word is also used to indicate the cereals generally. In Scotland "corn" is taken to mean oats. And on this continent the word has been stolen and monopolized by what the early colonists called "Indian corn."

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The marriage of Miss Bernice Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, who resides north of this city to Harry Speakman son of Mr. and Mrs. George Speakman of New Holland, at the home of the bride's parents Thursday evening, February 5, at 6 o'clock was a quiet affair only the immediate relatives of the families being present. Rev. H. O. Harbaugh of South Bloomfield, was the officiating minister. He used the double ring ceremony. The bride was handsomely gowned in a powder blue satin crepe dress. She wore a corsage of pink and white roses.

Following the ceremony and congratulations the guests were invited to the dining room, which was most beautifully decorated in pink and white roses. Covers were laid for twenty-five guests. A three course dinner was served. Seated at the bride's table were the bride and groom Mr. and Mrs. Harry Speakman, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Speakman and Rev. and Mrs. Harbaugh. At the other tables were seated Mr. and Mrs. Guy Speakman, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Speakman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Slagle and daughter, Eleanor, Mrs. Richard Hedges and sons, Richard and Edgar, Gretchen Hedges and Garnet Jane Speakman. Following the dinner the happy couple left on a wedding trip. The bride is a graduate of the normal school of Ashville. The groom is a graduate of the Atlanta high school. They will beat home to their friends at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Speakman will farm a portion of his father-in-law's farm. His bride will resume teaching in the primary department of the Ashville schools.

The wedding of Miss Frances B. Hamilton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hamilton, of Madison township and Mr. Benton M. Waits, son of Mrs. Louisa Waits, of the Cedar Hill road, took place at Sandusky, O., Thursday evening, February 5th.

The double ring ceremony was used and the nuptial service was solemnized in the Salem Evangelical Church at seven o'clock in the evening. The Rev. C. L. Kern officiated at the ceremony. Miss Helen Peters of Sandusky and Mr. Jacob Kummer, also of Sandusky, acted as bridesmaid and best man. Misses Ruth and Naomi Kern, two daughters of the minister, acted as ring bearers, carrying the rings in the hearts of roses.

The bride wore a gown of white canton crepe trimmed in crystal beads and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and fernery. The bridesmaid was gowned in blue and carried roses and carnations.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served in the dining room of the church to the bridal party. Mr. and Mrs. Waits left on a short wedding trip and will be at home after March 1st at their farm in Bloom township. The bride is a graduate of the Amanda high school in the class of 1921. Mr. Waits is a prosperous farmer.—Lancaster Eagle.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Kerns very pleasantly entertained Sunday, February 8, at their country home in honor of their daughter, Miss Florence, to a birthday dinner the following guests Misses Edna Dunkle, Helen Anderson, Della Hiatt, Mary Valentine, Bernice Drum, Marjorie Robinette, Winifred Drum, Hazel Kerns, Hattie Kerns, Dorothy Anderson, Eva Buchwalter, Freda Boden, Florence Kerns, Helen Allen. The house was prettily decorated in keeping with St. Valentine's day. The dinner was given in remembrance of her seventeenth birthday anniversary and showers of gifts were bestowed on her by the guests.

Mr. Howard B. Norris and Miss Fannie Martin were married Saturday February 7, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. George Weir. Mr. Norris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Norris of near this city and Miss Martin is a daughter of Mr. Charles Martin of Washington township. They will reside for the present with the groom's parents.

Desire.

And how like the hungry deep is desire in human experience! It has its hours of calm in which on the surface all is peace and beauty, while underneath its currents are flowing steadily hither and thither, and constantly the ripples of small wants made, for small actions, small efforts, break the hush of satisfaction. Few days pass that desire does not roll in upon us to throw the hours into commotion and few the weeks that the whitecaps of spite or selfish craving do not reach out discordant to the peace and rights of those near.—Robert S. Carroll.

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATION

Of Bread, Tobacco and Electricity—
It Is Charged That Monopolies Control Production and Distribution of These Three Products.

By Paul R. Mallon

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Feb. 10.—Bread, tobacco and electricity were the subjects of investigation by the federal trade commission today under authority of the Senate.

To learn whether it is true, as charged, that monopolies control the products and distribution of these three commodities the Senate voted to look into conditions in the industries.

The tobacco and electricity investigations were sanctioned by adoption of the Ernest and Norris resolutions. The bread price probe previously was initiated by a resolution backed by Senator LaFollette.

The commission's task is to investigate specific charges as follows:

Bread—That bakeries of the country are rapidly being swallowed by one gigantic baking corporation whose alleged control of prices costs the nation $500,000,000 a year in unwarranted high bread prices.

Tobacco—That the American Tobacco company and the Imperial Tobacco company of London, by mutual agreement boycotted Southern tobacco farmers' co-operatives, buying their tobacco supplies elsewhere at higher prices and that they agreed to let each other have absolute monopolies in their respective countries.

Electricity—That the General Electric company is a gigantic power "trust" dominating every electric light bulb in the country, through subsidiaries.

The commission will report its findings to the department of justice. If the department finds evidence of law violations appropriate action will be started.

NOTICE BIG DEBATE.

AMUSEMENTS

"Bread," a film version of the novel by Charles Norris, which has been one of the outstanding books of the year, is the picture announced for the Met theater for tonight. "Bread" a Metro Goldwyn picture, was directed by Victor Schertzinger, who officiated in like position for Jackie Coogan's "Long Live the King" and "A Boy of Flanders" and "The Man Who Passed By."

The chief role is played by Mae Busch, who will be remembered in a number of big pictures in the past season, among them "Name the Man," "The Christian," "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" and others. Robert Frazer, who has lately come to the fore among leading men, appears as the hero. Others in the distinguished cast include Pat O'Malley, Wanda Hawley, Hobart Bosworth, Myrtle Steamer, Ward Crane, Raymond Lee and Eugene Besserer.

The story deals with the country-wide problem of the woman in business; what it does for girls who want to be independent, in economic advantages and its danger to home life. It is a vital discussion of American life and develops many thrilling moments of drama, as well as a plentiful supply of comedy moments.

The screen adaptation was made by Albert Lewyn and Lenore Coffey. It is a Louis B. Mayer presentation.

Making Improvement Sure.

We can all do good work, for all that is required is to follow directions laid down by other people who have done good work before us. It may be that we can improve on what other people have done, and after a while it may be that we can strike out a line for ourselves. Most of us will find that if we do the best we can, even in the most plodding way, we shall find ourselves improving and rising, step by step, in our chosen task.—New York Evening Telegraph.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Caused the Death of Phillip F. Chandler, Wednesday.

Phillip F. Chandler died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. F. McCombs, on Park street, Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The deceased had been ill one week. His death was due to Bright's disease. The deceased was born January 3, 1855 in the state of Virginia. He was the son of Jackson and Malinda Alterman Chandler. He was a widower and is survived by five sons and five daughters.

The funeral services will be held at the home of his daughter on Park street Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. S. W. Hiles will officiate. The remains will be taken to Oatfield cemetery near New Lexington for burial Saturday morning by Mader & Ebert.

TOOK FIRST PRIZE.

We extend congratulations to our neighbor, J. W. Johnson, editor of the Democrat & Watchman, for having won first mention in the recent contest of country weeklies, at the recent Farmers' week meeting held at the Ohio State university.

Mr. Johnson's paper won over three hundred other papers for best editorial page, reading matter and typographical appearance. The Kingston Tribune won second honors. The Union-Herald was not entered in the contest.

Home.

Home is the blessed place where we expect to be judged at our best and have our worst forgiven. We may know that the sympathy our failures receives is not wholly deserved, and may secretly understand that the praise of our successes should be discounted, but that does not in the least detract from the value of either. It is love's backing that makes us at once strong and humble—brave to face adverse opinions without and more determined to bring home better results to the kindly critics of the fireside.

FUNERAL OF MRS. VAN HEYDE.

The funeral of Mrs. Gertrude Downs Van Heyde was held this morning at Forest cemetery. Rev. Mr. McNeal Columbus, officiated.

Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were; Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Ames, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Heyde, Chicago; Mrs. J. M. Frankenberg, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Turney Downs, Indianapolis, Indiana; Mrs. D. R. Horton, Mrs. G. W. Miller, Mrs. Garry Cathcart, Mrs. Herbert Crayne, Columbus.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

At 8:15 this evening The stage will be all set And lovers of the sport will get a treat.

When Circleville Athletic And Lancaster's quintette Proceed to run each other off their feet.

Will Fairfield's gaudy colors, Prevail against the others, Or will the gold and purple get the fame?

There is no way of knowing So you'd better count on going For this will be a PIPPIN of a game.

Like the Manhattan Handicap or the Kentucky Derby, the annual Lancaster Circleville game has become a classic that local fans talk about from one year to the next. The rivalry between these two teams is proverbial and their evenly matched strength has always assured a hard fought and exciting contest.

Lancaster will, as usual, bring along a large delegation of boosters and about one-fourth of the bleachers will have to be reserved for them; our boys will need the stimulus of an enthusiastic backing, so come early and be prepared to root your darndest. A preliminary game, C. A. C. Girls vs. Monk Florists of Columbus will begin at 7:15. After the game, a dance, 12febdl.

Virgil Had His Suspicions.

Virgil and Leonard were great chums, but there was a spirit of rivalry between them that at times almost severed their friendship. One day Virgil came over to Leonard's house bubbling over with joy and excitement. "I have a new little baby brother," he told Leonard and his family. A few days later the stork also visited Leonard's home, and Leonard at once ran over to Virgil's house to tell him of his new little baby brother. Virgil seemed equally joyful of Leonard's little brother, but later, when his chum had gone home, he said to his mother: "Leonard is just trying to mock me."

Explaining His Intention.

A nervous young curate in an English coal mining district was officiating at his first wedding. The bride and bridegroom smiled encouragingly at his first few blunders, but matters got serious when he turned to the bridegroom and asked, "Wilt thou have this woman as thy wedded husband?" The bride giggled, but the curate, getting hotter and hotter, tried again, "Wilt thou have this man to this wedded woman?" he said. At this the bridegroom interfered, "Aw don't know wot yer wants me to hev," he said, "but aw coom here for her"—laying his horny hand on the bride's shoulder—"an' aw'll hev her or nowt!"

Give Him a Goatskin.

The professor is the goat. "If it were not for one trivial thing," mused Professor Cranium, the famous memory expert, as he stroked his chin in par, "I could give young Stewpidd his diploma. His record as a student of my course is almost perfect." "What is his little trouble?" asked Dr. Hackem-Uppe. "He forgets to pay for his lessons."

REAL ECONOMY IN BETTER

WALL PAPER

Good wall paper is the real thought of true economy. It is within the reach of every home owner. The total added expense of decorating a room with better grades is only the small additional cost of paper. The labor charge remains the same, hence the investment is small compared with the ultimate results. Be mindful of the fact that nothing stands out more conspicuously than wall decorations. Wall paper is the background and support of all the furnishings. It is the final touch in beautifying a home. Select the better grades and you profit both in beauty and economy.

Eddie Pops the Question

By JULIUS B. SMITH

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

"VIOLET is sweet! Violet is tempting!
Violet would be my bride. . . ."
There he stuck for a rhyme and finished it in prose:
"If I just had nerve enough to ask her."

Then, as doubt came upon him, he added: "Maybe she wouldn't have me."

He eyed what he had written, mused upon it for a while, then pulled the sheet from his baby typewriter and inserted it in its proper place in a loose-leaf book across the cover of which was lettered in gilt the word "Diary."

Turning back the record leaves of his most intimate thoughts, he read page after page of ravings about his Violet, then closed the book with a sigh. Also he closed his eyes and leaned back in his easy chair, to day-dream. If he just had the courage.

A cool breeze blew through the open window against his brow. Something struck him in the face. He dragged himself from the land of Morpheus and discovered it was just a prank of the wind—a paper, a sheet of common, ordinary newspaper.

He commenced folding up the paper, then his eye caught a heading:

MAN PROPOSES TO WOMAN IN HIS SLEEP

Somnambulist Sued for Breach of Promise—Denies He Knows Anything About It—Jilted Female Wants $50,000 Heart Balm.

His eyes widened as he read. An idea slowly evolved in his brain. He would do it; yes sir, he would do it. He said as much aloud. With feverish activity, he went across the room to a bookcase and took down from its shelves a prominent book on autosuggestion. He'd try it out on Violet. He'd propose to her in his sleep.

He read and read and read . . . "You must go to sleep; you must go to sleep; you must then go to Violet's home and propose to her; you must give her the ring you've been carrying around in your vest pocket for weeks."

Hours later he awoke. He tried to recall just what it was all about . . . then he remembered—he had intended proposing to Violet in his sleep. He wondered if he had done so—if the experiment had worked. He felt in his pocket for the ring—it was gone.

His eye espied a typewritten sheet in his portable machine; it was the very page of the diary he had last written. Then he saw added the postscript:

"I've just been over to see Violet; proposed; gave her the ring; we're to be married immediately—she will tell me when."

That was all; businesslike and to the point. He'd done it; he had proposed in his sleep; had come back and written an account of it.

With a whoop of joy, he landed on his feet and rushed for the telephone, and told Violet he'd be right over.

He drove to the home of his sweetheart, found her awaiting him. She proudly held out her hand, his ring upon it scintillating in the bright sunlight. He gathered her into his arms. "When shall we be married?" he asked.

"This very afternoon," she told him. And they were.

The mountain breezes were fanning their cheeks as they sped along. "Do you know," he told her, "I have a confession to make. When I proposed to you, I was not awake." And he went on to tell her all about it.

"She laid her hand upon his arm.

"And I, too, have a confession to make," she said. "You won't be cross with me, will you, Eddie dear? I was outside your window when the paper blew in that awoke you—in fact, I held it and let the wind blow it against you. I was just playing a prank. You were sleeping so peacefully it seemed almost a shame to disturb you. I dodged to one side when I had done it, and then you began talking, talking to yourself, and you said things that sounded so—so rapturous to my ears—and when you read something in that paper about a man proposing in his sleep and you decided to do likewise—I kept on listening, heard you tell where you kept the ring—you dear, I didn't know you had it—and when you quit talking, I peeped in to see if you were asleep, and you were. And then I climbed through the window and—and I took the ring, Eddie, and I saw your diary, and—it wasn't very wrong for me to read parts of it, was it, Eddie? And what I read made me certain you wanted to marry me; and I took out the last written sheet and wrote on it what you thought you had written in your sleep. I was horribly afraid the click of the typewriter would wake you. And then I hurried home and waited for you to call me up. And that's all—only here we are—and married—and I'm so happy."

Abruptly he stopped the car. "Change seats with me," he directed. "You are a better pilot than I. And besides, I want both hands to love you."

Mad as March Hare

There is no such animal as a "March" hare. The common expression should be "mad as a March hare." Hares that live in marshes are usually very wild and ungovernable, hence when one is unduly excited, he is as mad (or as wild) as a marsh hare. However, the March hare has become an established figure of speech.

Humor in the Classroom.

Ethel, who was ten years old, was studying her reader, and learned that fish are placed in brine before they are dried and prepared for sale. After explaining that brine is very salt water, the teacher asked why the fish were placed in it. Ethel's face was illuminated with sudden understanding, and she promptly replied: "Because they are used to salt water."

HARTMAN THEATER

Thurston, the famous magician, comes to the Hartman theater, Columbus, for his 19th annual engagement beginning Monday evening, February 9, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

The engagement promises a new program of magic by what is unquestionably the only show of its kind on earth. Thurston needs no introduction to lovers of this time honored style of amusement. He has been distinctly in a class by himself, the head of his profession, since he stepped into the shoes of the great Kellar. The productions which he made in the past in this field of amusement are pointed to with pride and should stand as a guarantee of what may be expected from his this season. Thurston today Thurston today carries more paraphernalia than all of the past and present day magicians combined. His supporting company of capable assistants, of whom are beautiful girls is large as many musical revues and his scenic equipment is of such beauty as to call forth numerous Ah's and Oh's of amazement, surprise and prize.

Cost of Living in Madrid

A study has recently been made showing the normal needs of living for a working man of the lower classes and his family in Madrid. The budget is made on the basis of a family of five, father, mother and three children, between the ages of three and thirteen, says United States commerce reports. The total budget is shown at 5,854 pesetas for the year, which amounts at the current exchange rate (approximately $0.135 to the peseta) to $728. Of this amount $467 is allotted to food, $57 to housing, $118 to clothing and $81 to miscellaneous expenses. The amount of the budget, however, considerably exceeds the salary of the majority of the laborers and the standard of living is actually somewhat lower.

Wattle Plantations.

It is a strange fact that Australia, the home of the wattle (acacia), should import nearly £50,000 worth of wattle bark in one year, and that the chief exporter of the bark to the commonwealth should be South Africa—the country which began its wattle plantations with trees imported from Australia. Cheap labor in Natal, enabling the stripping of bark at one-seventh the cost in Australia, and the need for expensive wire fences in the latter country, probably account for the anomaly. It is worth noting, however, that Victoria has 21,000 acres of black wattle in one of her state forests, and other large areas will be sown shortly.

PUBLIC SALE!

TRY US FOR A WANT AD

KEEPING WELL

DIABETES ON THE INCREASE

DR. FREDERICK H. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

SO MUCH has appeared in the newspapers during the last two years about Doctor Banting and his insulin treatment for diabetes that many are under the impression that this disease has been practically wiped out or will disappear in the near future.

This is a grave mistake. Insulin is in no sense a cure for diabetes. It is merely a substance which enables the diabetic patient to live a little longer than he otherwise would. It has no effect, so far as we now know, in preventing the disease itself.

While diabetes has been known ever since the time of Hippocrates, it is probably more common today than ever before and is constantly increasing. Our statistics on diseases are so recent as to give us little information regarding their frequency a hundred or two hundred years ago but we do know that diabetes is much more common today than it was even a few years ago.

New York city was one of the first communities in this country to keep any records regarding the causes of death. In the late 60's, just after the close of the Civil war, one death from diabetes occurred in every 2,400. In 1923, there was one death from diabetes in every 51.

As diabetes is not a contagious disease but is due entirely to personal habits, probably largely to diet, this increase must be due to some change in our manner of living. In a recent issue of the Survey Dr. Haven Emerson shows that the increased use of sugar is probably responsible. Fifty years ago sugar was a luxury and was eaten in comparatively small amounts.

A few pieces of barley sugar or a little home-made molasses taffy was about all the candy available for children. Adults used small amounts of sugar on their foods. Today, there are candy stores on every corner, candy stands in every drug store, lunch room and hotel lobby. The consumption of soft drinks, ice cream and other sweet things has enormously increased. The average amount of sugar eaten today by the American people is far beyond that of any other period in the world's history.

Now, sugar, itself, is an excellent food but we are consuming today more sugar than ever before in our food, with candy, sweet drinks, and ice cream thrown in for good measure. The discovery of insulin will not in any way diminish the amount of diabetes. Only sensible regulation of our diet can do that.

The memorial to Lincoln designed by Saint Gaudens and erected in Chicago is one of the most remarkable character studies in stone ever designed. The rugged simplicity of the monument, combined with the faithful portraiture of the statue, seems to breathe the spirit of the Great Man.

The MODERN MONUMENT builders should give you the same results. I can refer you to many memorials erected by me in the past 27 years of my business here. Call at show room. No agents to annoy you.

Caring for Food Chopper.

My food chopper always left two dark, ugly marks on the drainboard when I used it. Finally I resorted to adhesive plaster. I covered the clamps with small strips of the adhesive plaster, and I find that it not only prevents the marks, but stands any amount of washing. — Good Housekeeping.

Atwater Kent radio in his home at Tarlton.

The Tarlton Dramatic club will also produce the operetta, "In Old Louisiana" at the community hall, Laurelville Thursday evening, February 19, at 7:30 p. m. We are exchanging plays with Laurelville who will entertain us in the very near future.
This will make the third time for this play and you will be well paid for your time spent with us. Come out and enjoy yourself for once.

On last Saturday evening sixty or more citizens of the immediate community met at the hall in Tarlton and organized. The organization was named "The Tarlton Community Club." The following officers were elected; President, W. I. Spangler; vice president, Mrs. C. A. Wilson; secretary, O. S. Mowery; treasurer, R. A.
Reid. The purpose of this club shall be to arrange social and educational meetings, to study ways and means for the promotion of the community welfare and to provide facilities for community action in effecting social and economic improvement. There has already been appointed a committee to put on the first entertainment for Washington's birthday in the form of a masquerade party. Full announcements later.

An All Weather Topcoat for All Occasions

A Club-knit Topcoat will never smell of mothballs, because you'll never put it away. It's warm but not bulky, texture makes it ideal for Spring and Fall wear and many winter days.

A fabric that leads a double life
--knit of selected all wools for beauty and durability, and rainproofed and waxed for defiance of the weather.

It keeps its shape and seldom needs pressing. Light grey. Oxford grey, brown and lake blue---silk yoke and sleeves.

A topcoat that earns its price many times over.

DERBY

Mr. Albert Eddings was attacked by appendicitis at 5 o'clock Sunday and was taken to the hospital for an operation at 8 o'clock. He is doing as well as could be expected. His son, Harold, was operated on for the same kind of trouble about two months ago.

The revival services at the M. E.
church began Sunday evening.

The play given by the P. T. A. Friday evening was exceptionally good.

Mrs. Ellis Minshall was agreeably surprised Friday evening by the arrival of her sister and niece from Cincinnati for a visit. Mr. Henson Min-shall and family of Columbus; Mr. W.
E. Dailey and family of Harrisburg spent Sunday with her father and family here.

Permanent Colors.

Ancient Egyptians had a marvelous knowledge of colors, and they understood fully what colors would last. In the Egyptian papyri the ground colors are as good as ever they were. The Egyptians worked their outlines in lampblack, used clay for their whites, ferruginous earths for their reds, ochres for their yellows, and for greens they used perhaps green jasper or mixed blue carbonate of copper with ochre. All these colors are permanent.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE.

Do not fail to attend the debate on the Child Labor Amendment at the auditorium Friday evening. Circleville affirmative against Washington C. H. negative. Circleville negative side will debate with Lancaster at Lancaster the same evening.

These debates are most interesting and your presence is appreciated by the faculty and students. It gives our local boys and girls a little more grit and staying qualities if they know that their efforts to hold up the honor of their local school is appreciated by home folks.
